Exploring Supervision as a Career Step

9 am - 4 pm (lunch included)

Cyndi Schaeffer

Executive Director of "The Business & Training Center - Edmonds Community College"
(Co-sponsored by SAM)

Workshop Description: Thinking of supervision as your next career step? This highly interactive workshop is designed to help you explore the challenging and real world aspects of supervision. And learn how to effectively manage your personal transition from co-worker to supervisor. Participants will explore their "supervisory style" through evaluations and workshop discussion. The workshop will help individuals explore the field of supervision, and ways to develop the basic skills needed to succeed in their first supervisory position.

Imagination and Shadow Puppetry in Action

1 - 5 pm

Ariel Goldberger

Professor of Fine Arts at Evergreen Sate College
(Co-sponsored by CAYAS)

Workshop Description: This is a fun and intensive hands-on workshop geared to preparing participants to lead a shadow puppetry workshop in their libraries. The workshop has three sections: puppet design and construction, shadow puppetry, and shadow puppetry. Shadow puppets can be made with inexpensive or free materials. The story can be one you read in class. The amount of time with few other requirements. You will be able to see how you can make theatrical puppets and have lots of fun in the process!

Please bring a short descriptive poem or a very short story with lots of action.
